THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1772.

LISBON, September 12.

LAST Friday at Noon, as the Marquis of Pombal, principal Minister of his moſt faithful Majeſty, was going out of the King's Palace, he was attacked in his Carriage, in the midſt of the Horſe-Guards, who accompanied him, by a young Countryman almoſt naked, who threw at him with ſuch lence, that it ſplit the Coach Door againſt which ppily hit; he had Time to throw another, before was ſeized by the Guards, who would have cut him ieces, had not the Marquis forbid their hurting. This Wretch did not endeavour to eſcape; and ſeems to regret his not being killed by the rds; he was immediately carried to the Priſon of Jonquiere.

GIBRALTAR, Sept. 23. The Duke of Glouceſter arrived here laſt Saturday, attended by the Adjutant eral, by Colonels Deſaguliers and Rainford, and r Haywood. His Royal Highneſs has gone over Part of this Place, and reviewed the Garriſon.

VIENNA, Oct. 8. Prince Gallitzin, the Ruſſian niſter here, impatiently expects a Courier from eral Count Romanzow, having received a Letter that Officer laſt Sunday, adviſing that the Grand , encouraged by the little Advantage he gained the Ruſſian Troops at Giurgewo, had paſſed the the with his whole Army; and that he (Count de anzow) was marching, in order to meet him and him Battle: So that we may expect to hear of an gement, the Conſequences of which may probadetermine, whether the War will continue, or e be concluded between the Turks and the ians.

LONDON, September 22.

Extract of a Letter from Bergen, in Norway.

"This will inform you of the diſmal Situation Town is now reduced to, by a Fire that broke out ad Inſt. betwixt Three and Four o'Clock in the rning, which in the ſhort Space of Eight Hours, laid moſt opulent and extenſive Quarter of the City in s. The Damage is computed from 100,000l. to ,000l. Sterling; the Number of Houſes burnt, be- Warehouſes, is reckoned 120. The Conſternawas univerſal, and had not the Weather proviially continued calm, our Situation would have alled that of the fatal Fire of 1756, under the ſſure of which we were far from being recovered; Stroke, ſo ſoon after, will, in all probability, on the inevitable Ruin of this once flouriſhing wn."

Oct. 1. When the Hannah Johannah, a large Ship n Ireland, was loſt lately on the Coaſt of Holland; Captain and all the Crew periſhed except one Man a Boy.

On Tueſday laſt, at the Court of Aldermen, derman Kennet called for the Deed which Wilkes had ſigned to pay Sixty Pounds for the Stand ch; and told Mr. Wilkes that as he had now been Alderman for Three Years, it was high Time it uld be paid. The other Aldermen ſaid the ſame, that it was very unjuſt he ſhould, by not paying Money, enjoy the Benefit of theirs. Mr. Wilkes ied, that he had no Money; but would pay as n as he began to officiate as Sheriff.

A Writer, who ſigns himſelf "The State Watch," gave the Publick the following Intelligence this rning; the Probability of which is left to the Judgt of the Reader.

"It is now upwards of Six Weeks ſince Lord Camden paid a very private Viſit to the Duke of Grafton the Country. Mr. Nuttal, the Solicitor of the eaſury, was alſo down at his Lordſhip's Country at the ſame Time. Many Changes in the Miry were at that Time abſolutely fixed upon, and thoſe anges have had the Approbation of a certain great ſonage, but they will not take Effect till a few Days re the approaching Seſſion of Parliament.

"From a few Hints that were accidentally let fall at Meeting relative to the high Price that Bank Stock been for Six or Seven Years paſt, the Duke of fton, who, it ſeems, is ſoon to reſume his old Place Firſt Lord Commiſſioner of the Treaſury, has been ſtantly meditating how and in what Degree he can the preſent high Price of Bank Stock to the Acut and Emolument of Government.

"And it has been whiſpered for this Month paſt, t his Grace, upon that Maxim of our Laws which ows that the Power which can make may alſo unke an Act of Parliament, is determined to diſſolve preſent Government and Company of the Bank of gland, although by an Act paſſed 4 George III. y are not diſſolvable till the Year 1786."

Oct. 4. Laſt Sunday the Crew of the Peggy Greenſdman, of Whitby arrived there. They had made beſt fiſhing of any Ship from England, having ken Four large Whales, Three under Size and a live or. On the 22d of June they got clear of the Ice, d making the beſt of their Way to England, were overtaken by a violent Gale of Wind, which drove them back again into the Ice, where their Ship was cruſhed to pieces on the firſt of July, in Latitude 80 North, Hacluit's Headland bearing W. S. W. about Fifteen Leagues. They were about Fourteen Hours upon the Ice, when Part of them were taken up by the Anne and Elizabeth, and the other Part by the Britiſh Queen both belonging to Hull. The whole Ship's Company are ſafely arrived at Whitby.

Oct. 9. A few Days ago General S———t gave an Invitation to Capt. S—th—l—d, Nephew to the General, (and who had always been intended by him as his Heir, whereby he would have ſucceeded to a Fortune of 30,000l.) to ſpend a few Days with him at his Country-Seat, not many Miles from the City of Edinburgh: Unfortunately for the General, he was married a few Months ago to a ſprightly young Lady of Eighteen. After Four Days Interview between the Captain and the General's Lady, they became ſo enamoured of each other that the Lady contrived a Scheme for an Elopement. She pretended one Night to have a Variety of Letters to write, which would keep her up very late: The Lover was to get every Thing in readineſs, and accordingly about Four in the Morning, when all was ſilent, a Chaiſe was ordered in a particular Place, and they ſet off immediately for London; the Lady taking with her only her Gold Repeater, Nine Guineas in Caſh, and a few Trinkets. When the General got up at his uſual Hour, he enquired for his Lady and the Captain; but alas! they were both fled. The General having got Intelligence of the Rout they took immediately purſued them, and traced them from Stage to Stage; the Lovers did not think proper to take a Night's Repoſe till they arrived at the Red Lion at Barnet, which was on Friday Night laſt; They accordingly ſtopped to refreſh themſelves after ſo fatiguing a Journey for a few Hours; but on Saturday Morning early the General overtook them at the above-mentioned Inn, before they were out of Bed. The Captain was ſo terrified at the News of the General's Arrival, that he made his Eſcape out of the Window without his Breeches, and in that Situation got privately into a Poſt-Chaiſe, and made the beſt of his Way to Town. The General having called in the Waiter to reconnoitre the Lady, after aſking him whether he ſhould know her again, and being anſwered in the Affirmative, retired, but ſent her a Hundred Pounds to bear her Expences home to her Friends. One Circumſtance rather fortunate happened in this Affair: The Captain, when it was determined the Night before to reſt at Barnet, loaded his Piſtols in the Reſolution to defend himſelf againſt all Aſſailants; but the Lady inſiſting on their being unloaded again, as ſhe declared ſhe could not ſleep with loaded Piſtols in the Room, the Captain took out the Charges, which probably prevented Bloodſhed on the Purſuers breaking open the Door of the Bed-chamber in which they lay. The General proceeded to London.—This Affair will, in all probability, cauſe ſome further Buſineſs in Doctors-Commons.

It is ſaid, that the General had ſettled upon his Lady a very great Jointure, 5000l. per Annum, which her Ingratitude has juſtly made her forfeit.

It is alſo ſaid, that he had ſettled upon the Fruits of the Marriage, 100,000l.

The Ingratitude of Capt. ———, who carried off this Lady, is truly deteſtable. The General has promoted him by his Intereſt to the Rank he enjoyed in the Army, and, in ſhort, had been his greateſt Benefactor.

The Captain who lately diſhonoured the Bed of a certain General Officer will, it is ſaid, be caſhiered by an Order from the Secretary at War: So much Offence having been taken at his ſcandalous Inhoſpitality by a great Perſonage.

When Capt. S. made his Eſcape out of the Window at Barnet on Saturday laſt, in his Shirt, it was about Four o'Clock in the Morning, and it now appears, that he got under a Hay-rick, where he covered himſelf up, and lay in that Condition till Nine o'Clock the next Night; being by this Time almoſt ſtarved for want of Clothes, he crept out in order to beg Protection in the firſt Houſe he could reach, and it happened, though entirely unknown to him, that he came to the ſame Houſe he left, and is now under the Care of Dr. Garret, of Barnet, his Fleſh being much torn by croſſing the Hedges in that naked Condition. The General, who had advanced him Money to purchaſe his Commiſſion in his own Regiment, called the next Day upon his Agent, and directed him to inform Captain S. that he ſhould have Liberty to ſell out.

Oct. 15. Her Majeſty has ordered a Benefaction of 400 Guineas to the Hoſpital for Lying-in-Women.

A Policy is now opened at Lloyd's Coffee Houſe, which gives Six Guineas to receive 100, if Charles Edward Stuart, the preſent Pretender to the Crown of England, is acknowledged King of Poland, in the Courſe of Two Years.

Orders are given by General Conway, that no Perſon ſhall be admitted to be a Gunner in any Garriſon but ſuch as have ſerved in the Royal Regiment of Artillery.

By a private Letter from France, by the laſt Mail, we have an Account, that the Ship Ave Maria, Du Bleyſe, bound from the Coaſt of Africa to Guadalupe, laden with Slaves, Gold Duſt, and Elephants Teeth, was cut off on the Coaſt, by the Natives, and all the Crew, except a Man and a Boy, were killed, who got on Shore, and hid themſelves in the Woods; this Misfortune is ſaid, to be occaſioned by ſome of the Crew endeavouring to defraud the Natives.

It is ſaid, that freſh Propoſals have been made from the Court of Ruſſia, for Admiral Elphinſtone to enter again into the Ruſſian Service.

An Account from Galway in Ireland ſays: At a Coroner's Inqueſt held on the Bodies of the Crew of the Mayflower, who were found dead in the Cabbin of that Veſſel, it appeared, that the Circumſtance which produced that affecting Cataſtrophe, was occaſioned by their own incautious Neglect of putting out, before they retired to their Cabbin, the Fire wherewith they had dreſſed their Suppee in the Forecaſtle, by which unhappy Miſtake, from the Proximity of the Fireplace, and the Cloſeneſs of the Veſſel, they were all ſuffocated. One of the Deceaſed having been found near the Companion Door with his Clothes bundled up in his Arms, it is conjectured, that he expired there, in attempting to get out.

Oct. 17. The Authenticity of the following Circumſtance we are aſſured by a genuine Letter, which arrived Yeſterday from Leghorn, which aſſerts, that his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Glouceſter had paid a Viſit to Genoa, where he was received with great Ceremony by the Nobles; and that the ſecond Night after his Arrival at the above City, he went to the Aſſembly, where, ſoon after unexpectedly entered the unfortunate Charles Edward Stuart, commonly called the Young Chevalier. This Circumſtance, for a ſhort Time, cauſed great Speculation, but the latter preſently withdrew, and by Order of the States left that Metropolis the next Morning.

We hear that the Duke of Grafton ſeems at preſent the Favourite of a great Perſonage, as he is more frequent in private Conferences with him, than any other Perſon in the Miniſtry.

Lady Bute is talked of as to be created a Ducheſs in her own Right, the Dukedom to be hereditary in her Family.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, dated Oct. 10.

"We have this Moment received, by Expreſs, Letters from Vienna, which mark that Prince Lobkowitz, who ſet out from the Auſtrian Court about Four Months ago, on his Second Embaſſy to the Court of St. Peterſburgh, has happily fulfilled the great Object he had in Charge; that in Conſequence of the Emperor's ſteady Adherence to the Firſt Propoſal which he had made to the Empreſs of Ruſſia, namely, "That he would never ſuffer the Ruſſian Army to paſs the Danube," the Czarina has at laſt acceded to an amicable Accommodation with the Porte; and it is confidently aſſerted, that the Czarina is to reſtore to the Porte all ſuch Territories as her Armies have conquered, either in Aſia or in the Archipelago; that her Troops are to evacuate the Towns of Cotzchim, or Brailow, Iſmael, &c. On the other Hand, the whole of Tartary, North of the Sea of Aſoph, is to be ceded to her Czariſh Majeſty, in full Sovereignty; together with the Crimea lower Territory, which is to be held of the Imperial Crown of Ruſſia, by the Kan, as a tributary Fief of the Ruſſian Empire. The Porte is alſo to make her Czariſh Majeſty a pecuniary Compenſation.

"That with reſpect to the Emperor of Germany, the Two extenſive Provinces of Moldavia and Walachia, North of the Danube, are to be ceded to him in Perpetuity; but that the preſent King of Poland is to enjoy the Revenues, and to have the Government of them during his natural Life; and that his Poliſh Majeſty, in return, is to abdicate the Kingdom of Poland, which is to be guarantied by the high-contracting Parties to Prince Albert of Saxony, who for that Purpoſe is to be elected King of Poland, with hereditary Succeſſion.

"With reſpect to the King of Pruſſia, thoſe Poliſh Territories which bear the Name of Pruſſia are to be annexed to his Pruſſian Majeſty's Dominions, in independent Sovereignty.

"Theſe Letters further mark, that the Pretender, who has been incog. during ſeveral Months in the Poliſh Territories, is totally neglected in this Partition Treaty."

Certain Advices have been received from Paris, which ſay, that the King of Spain has actually inliſted on the Co-operation of the Court of France with him, in a Scheme, to be put in Motion early the enſuing Spring; and in Caſe of Non-compliance, threatened to diſſolve the Alliance now ſubſiſting between the Two Crowns. Lewis was greatly alarmed at this, and forced to take his Head out of the Boſom of his fair Enchantreſs, and betake himſelf to ſtudy. A Council was ſummoned, when it was determined to favour the Demands of his Catholick Majeſty. Since this, every Method has been taken to drain Money from the Subjects, and ſome of the moſt oppreſſive Kind that ever was attempted in that Kingdom before.

By the lateſt Accounts from Germany, Things do not appear to be in the pacific State Adminiſtration could wish on many Parts of the Continent; so that, notwithstanding all the Industry exerted to keep the Peace, the ensuing Spring is expected to be a martial one, and that some Campaigns, both offensive and defensive, are formed to take place very early.

Accounts from Jamaica are full of the ill Treatment the English receive from the Spaniards in that Part of the World.

Yesterday the Lords of the Admiralty ordered their Marshal to seize a Ship in the River; 'tis supposed she contains a Number of Pirates.

Two Frigates are ordered to be got ready immediately at Plymouth for the Coast of Guinea.

We are assured that a Bill for preventing the Migration of British Artificers to any foreign Kingdoms, or even the Colonies, which has been long in Agitation, will be brought in and passed the ensuing Session of Parliament.

Above Thirty different Sorts of curious and valuable Stones have been lately discovered in the Mountains of Benduphigh, near Aberdeen in Scotland, among which are, Rubies, Emeralds, Topazes, Amethysts, and Garnets, nearly equal to any imported from the Eastern and Western Parts of the World.

A Writer in the St. James's Chronicle, who subscribes S. Meanwell, says, I am bold to affirm, the Letters signed Junius are not the Productions of the indigent Mr. Burke, or of the single speeched Irish Chancellor of the Exchequer. They did not flow through the Quill of any Hibernian. They do not belong to the republican Amazon. The Hero of Minden dares not claim them. The Phrenzy of Pride, Envy, Hatred, Malice, and all Uncharitableness, could never be so lively painted but by the Person who actually possessed it. I do not know Three such Persons: One I do know! Come forth thou Self-tormentor, whose Heart never was in union with itself! Thou Murderer of Sleep! Thou Assassin, in whom all the abovementioned Passions are combined, stand forth! In what Language shall I address thee, thou pensioned Earl of Chatham!

Oct. 19. By a Gentleman who arrived this Week from Cherberg we learn, that the Bason and all the Works destroyed by the English in the late War are almost put into the same Condition they were before; he says, he saw a Number of Irish Labourers employed on those Works, who are well paid; that they are building Frigates there, and that there were several upon the Stocks; that he saw above Twenty Englishmen employed on that Work, and was told by some of them that they had almost double the Wages they have in their own Country. He farther says, they have Plenty of Provisions, which are chiefly brought there by English Vessels out of Derbyshire. He also gives an Account, that Curiosity led him to take a View of the Place, for which he was taken and carried before a Magistrate, and searched; but having nothing about him but a Bit of a Pencil, and his Countrymen declaring they would leave their Work if he was not discharged, he was dismissed, but ordered to quit the Place immediately. So different is the Conduct of the French to that of the English, who invite their Enemies to see the weak Condition of their Navy.

Extract of a Letter from Cowes, October 16, 1771.

"The Ship Afterly, Capt. Lizard, will be totally lost. The Cargo, Masts, Yards, &c. will be all saved, likewise all the Ship's Materials.

"Capt. Hunt, of the Beaufort, from S. Carolina, has given the following Intelligence:

Sept. 6. In Lat. 24, Long. 69, spoke with the Live Oak, Lunberry, from Charles-Town, bound to Lisbon, all well.

Sept. 12. Met with a violent Hurricane, in Lat. 38 30, Long. 65; the next Day saw several Ships dismasted; could not speak with any of them.

Sept. 19. Spoke with the Brig Hawke, from North-Carolina, bound to Poole, in Lat. 39 30, Long. 57; had lost her Main-mast and Boom.

Sept. 22. Spoke with the Elizabeth, Capt. Morley, from Charles-Town, bound to London, in Lat. 41, Long. 52, having lost her Main and Mizen-masts, Sept. 12.

The George, from the West-Indies, an empty Guinea Ship, proves to be the Vessel that was on Shore at Workington, but will be got off without much Damage.

The James, Montgomery, from London, bound to Maryland, has lost her Bowsprit and Foremast, with other Damage, occasioned by the Scipio, Kirkman, running foul of her in the Downs, and had her Boat staved also.

The Polly, Maclean, from Georgia, for London, was drove on Shore the 13th Inst. about Three Miles from Bridport Harbour, and beat to Pieces, and every Soul on Board perished.

The Latham, Waterman, from Virginia to London, is on Shore in the Swin, and it is feared will be lost.

The Bathia, Kennedy, from St. Vincent to London, is lost near Margate.

The Friendship, Ogilvie, from Jamaica, was on Shore on the Naize, but got off again by staving her Rum and Water.

The Diana, Taylor, from Baldborough to London, is lost on Barnstable, and all the Crew perished."

To JUNIUS.

IT may not be improper, at a Time when you are exposing the Conduct of several Persons in publick Life, to bestow a few Thoughts on your Letters, with a View to trace out the Motives by which you are influenced, and to see what Share the Love of your Country, and Regard for your King, have in your Affections. The most persuasive Arguments lose their Force when urged with a bad Intent, and the most engaging Eloquence fails to please when Malignity is apparent in the Countenance of the Orator. If on a Review of your Productions you appear to be animated by laudable and honourable Motives, I may venture to assert that your Letters will be more admired than ever. It is the general Opinion (particularly of judicious, sensible, and disinterested Persons, whose Opinion has most Weight with me) that you are too severe, and, I am sorry to say it, your Satire too often turns to Abuse, too much resembling the discontented Members of the Opposition, who when out of Place are continually wrangling and exclaiming against the Measures of Government, good or bad, but as soon as the Scale turns, themselves adopt the same Measures. If you mean to reform the Persons you censure, an affectionate and sincere Address would be most likely to succeed. If you think it proper the People should be acquainted with the Character of their Legislators, as it undoubtedly is, Charity obliges you to extenuate, or at least not aggravate their Guilt; and to make every Allowance for Temptation, and the Prejudices of Education; 'tis true indeed you have attributed their Misconduct in some Measure to the latter, but in a Manner that insults their Misfortunes. If you aim at the publick Good, Peace and Unanimity at Home are certainly most conducive to it. But I can more easily excuse your Severity to those Ministers, who have rendered themselves obnoxious to the People, than your disrespectful Behaviour to the King. You have told him Truths which it is the Duty of an honest and loyal Subject to make him acquainted with, but you have had too little Regard to Decency and Charity. A Man who is really concerned for his King would endeavour to alleviate his Afflictions, by an Attempt to reconcile him to the Affections of his People, and fix his Throne in their Hearts. You rather triumph over his Misfortunes, and make them the Occasion of displaying your Talents; nay, you go farther, you deprive him of the Love and Affection of his Subjects, by representing him as their Enemy, and as professing the Principles of a Stuart. I believe this to be false, nor shall I be inclined to think otherwise, till I have a more convincing Proof of it than the Assertion of Junius. His Majesty is generally thought to be a Man of good Principles; that I may not be misunderstood here, I call no Principles good, that are not favourable to, and reconcilable with, the British Constitution. Why did he ascend the Throne as great a Favourite with the People as ever a young Prince was? You will agree with me, that his Conduct, during his Minority, afforded a pleasing Prospect of a happy Reign. That it has not hitherto been so, is, I believe, more his Misfortune than Fault: If he has acted improperly, I believe it to be from laudable Motives. At the Demise of his royal Grandfather, he ascended the Throne at the inexperienced Age of 22. A certain Lady doubtless availed herself of this Opportunity of recommending the Earl of Bute to him, as a Person in whose Hands he might safely trust the Reins of Government. Unacquainted probably with his Lordship's political Principles, with a Desire to please, he appoints his Lordship Prime Minister. What more natural than for the Earl in his Turn to recommend his Friends and Countrymen to the royal Favour? The English, justly alarmed and offended at this national Partiality, exclaim vehemently against him and his Adherents. The Clamour of the People is represented to him as the Outrage of a turbulent Faction, and he is assured, that if he suffers himself to be disturbed by every envious Scribler, he will never be at Peace. As the Clamour increases, and the Discontent becomes general, the publick Prints are withheld from his Inspection. By these Means he cannot know the true Sense of his People till he reads it in Petitions and Remonstrances. If a Cabinet Council is held in Consequence of these, his old Friends insist on the same Measures being pursued, or they will forsake him, adding, that in such a Case the discontented Patriots will establish a Commonwealth. If this be a true State of the Case, a great Personage is more to be pitied than blamed. Those are undoubtedly culpable who deceive him to his manifest Injury, and alienate him from the Affections of his People: If it would not be impertinent, I would humbly recommend a Maxim or two, which, if observed, I think would recover him that Share of the Love of his Subjects, which his Ministers have deprived him of, viz. never to consult the abovementioned Parties, directly or indirectly, in the Affairs of Government, and to bestow Posts of Honour or Profit on such Englishmen as best deserve them. Why is our amiable Queen so deservedly beloved and respected by all Ranks of People? Because she employs all her Thoughts on her domestic Concerns, and never interferes in Politics.

Having delivered my Sentiments with that Freedom and Moderation which I think consistent with Loyalty, I shall now return to your Letters: You seem to be not an unconcerned Spectator; you seem to have the Interest of your King and Country at Heart; but that Party Zeal has prejudiced you too much against the King and Government. Your chief Motives for writing appear to me to be a Regard for your Country, the Love of Fame, and a Desire to serve your Friends by a Change of Government. You have excellent Talents, and a happy Mode of Expression; and if you were disinterested and unconnected with any Party, I think they might be usefully employed to put a Stop to those Dissentions which unhappily prevail, and restore Peace and Unanimity among us. To this End let me advise you, if you write any more, to be more candid and impartial, not to delight in aspersing the Characters of others, and aggravating their Guilt, but endeavouring to reconcile the contending Parties, always remembering, that much will be required of him to whom much is given, that as you judge you shall be judged, and with what Measure you mete it shall be measured to you again.
